ABOUT ANAESTHESIA

General Anaesthesia is a state where consciousness is lost in a controlled way and is used for most procedures. Sedation is used for simple procedures. Local Anaesthesia is used for pain relief.

Monitoring is used continuously. The functioning of your vital organs and body systems is supervised and maintained, and a record is kept of medications and techniques used. Note that the hospital keeps a copy of this information for seven (7) years and we may do so as well in case of future of anaesthesia. We would be pleased to provide you with a summary and/ or copies of this information if requested.

Medications + Fasting: See also <http://bit.ly/DrFMed>:

- ☑ Continue most medications, esp. for heart, lungs & reflux with a sip of water when fasting
- ☑ Cease blood thinners (e.g., warfarin, clopidogrel) for 5-10 days (check with cardiologist first)
- ☑ Cease diabetes medications (insulin and tablets) while fasting, with usually half dose for the last meal. Note newer "Gliflozin" medications need to be stopped three (3) days prior.
- ☑ Smoking: please cease at least 24 hours prior, to decrease chances of wound and chest infection
- ☑ Fasting from food is required for at least 6 hours, 4 hours for fluids and 2 hours for medications before admission (including drink DEX). This minimizes the risk of regurgitation before, during or after Anaesthesia, which can seriously damage the lungs.

Risks. There are risks associated with anaesthesia and surgery. Fortunately, they are mostly rare, and Australia is reported to have one of the best standards of anaesthesia care in the world. However, risks increase with obesity, smoking, co-existing medical conditions and complex surgery.

Risks include:

- Infrequent: nausea, vomiting, sore throat, bruising/ pain at injection, muscle aches, headache, dizzy
- Rare risks: breathing difficulty, nerve injury, allergy, teeth/ lip/ tongue injury, infection and blood clots
- Extremely rare: awareness, eye injury, brain/ spinal cord injury, heart attack, lung/ liver/ kidney damage

ABOUT THE ANAESTHESIA ACCOUNT

You will receive an account for professional anaesthesia services, separate from surgical and hospital fees. The fee only covers the anaesthesia for the operation, and not post-operative care. This account increases with the complexity and duration of the anaesthesia, which may not relate to the difficulty of the surgery. Clinic consultations or post-operative visits (if they occur) may be not covered. An estimate can be given of the likely anaesthesia fee for your operation – please tick the box over page.

Why is there an out-of-pocket?

Most health funds calculate their anaesthesia rebates from Medicare rebates, which have fallen behind inflation and practice costs. The Medicare rebate covers approximately 25% of the ASA / AMA maximum recommended fee, with health fund rebates covering another 5% - 25% (depending on the health fund). Visit www.asa.org.au or ring them on 1800 806 654. For out of pocket quotes, please call 08 8554 6078, option 2.

Can I reduce my 'out-of-pocket' expense?

Private health insurance companies often have two levels of rebate, with the higher level of rebate known as a 'Gap Cover' scheme. This can help lessen your out-of-pocket expense but is only applied if it allows co-payments for anaesthesia accounts or if a concession is made. If you wish to seek a concession, it is recommended that you do so before paying the account, to increase the likelihood that you will receive the higher rebate from your health insurance company.

When do I receive my account?

This will usually arrive after your anaesthesia. Usually we can send your account to the health fund on your behalf, with any out-of-pocket billed to you. For 'non-copayment' funds we send you the whole account, with a discount if you pay your account in full within 2 weeks. You then claim the health fund and Medicare benefits for yourself. Alternatively, you could send your account to the health insurance company and Medicare, and then send in these cheques with any out-of-pocket payment - this is often a lengthy process that makes it difficult to receive the early payment discount.

Note that we prefer BPay or EFT. Cheques can be accepted. Credit card payments can be made via <http://bit.ly/DrFaPay> or over the phone (although this incurs a merchant fee of 2.5%).

Please feel free to raise any questions or concerns regarding your anaesthesia or your account. If you have concerns after your anaesthesia, please advise me as soon as possible.

Yours faithfully,
Douglas Fahlbusch
